GDPR Privacy Notice

Last updated: November 13, 2018

NOTE: Capitalised terms not otherwise defined in this document bear the meaning specified in Schedule 1 to this GDPR Privacy Notice.

Introduction

- A. The GDPR enters into force on May 25, 2018.
- B. The General Data Protection Regulation (“GDPR”) is a new European privacy regulation, which will replace the current EU Data Protection Directive (“Directive 95/46/EC”). The GDPR aims to strengthen the security and protection of personal data of EU data subjects and harmonize EU data protection law.

Our Privacy Notice for You

1. Who Is Affected By GDPR?

The GDPR imposes new rules on companies, government agencies, non-profits, and other organizations that offer any goods and services to people in the European Union, or that collect and analyse data tied to European data subjects.

2. How Has Company Been Preparing for the GDPR?

At Company we are committed to maintaining an effective security and privacy program. We recently updated our privacy policy and terms of use to meet the standard of GDPR and to reflect further transparency around our uses of user data. We are dedicated to ensuring our students, partners and other users have the highest confidence in our data protection practices and see GDPR as an opportunity to strengthen this devotion.

3. What Key Changes Did Company Make?

Company evaluated all new requirements and restrictions imposed by the GDPR and below are the steps taken. We are taking any action necessary to ensure that we handle your personal data in compliance with applicable law. You will receive notifications of changes to our Terms of Use within the Company Platform. As further regulations are published by the EU lawmakers, we will continue to review our terms.

3.1. Policies and Terms

Our legal documentation (namely our Privacy Policy, our Cookie Policy, and our Terms of Use) will be updated to reflect any product changes. Anytime we make changes to our terms, we hope to make it easy for you and our entire community – to understand the changes and the choices and control you have over your data.

3.2. Product Changes

Our technology and security teams have worked hard to make changes to the Company service to meet the standards of GDPR. We are constantly working on adding new features that will improve your experience using our platform and will allow you to (i) better control whether you want to share specific content with third parties, (ii) ensure proper standards for consents and lawful processing, and (iii) ask for the deletion and portability of your data.

3.3. Age Restrictions

In accordance with GDPR, we have changed the age of consent for the use of our services by European data subjects.

3.4. Our Service Providers

GDPR requires us to ensure our data processors providing sufficient guarantees to implement appropriate technical and organizational privacy measures and we have endeavoured to implement such measures throughout our platform. We have likewise undertaken a project with all of our vendors to ensure compliance with those obligations where data is processed by them. Moving forward, we will continue to review all our vendors, finding out about their GDPR plans and arranging similar GDPR-ready data processing agreements with them.

3.5. Our Enterprise Partners

Company implements physical, personnel, IT and vendor security practices and policies that are consistent with industry practices and the level of data that is provided and hosted by Company.
